DETAILED ACTION

Inventorship

1. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 3. Claims 8-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bonesteel (5,458,314).

Bonesteel teaches a valve stem 12; a hollow valve cone 26 connected to the valve stem 12 and having a greater diameter end region and an smaller diameter end region; and a valve disk 14 closing the valve cone and having a fiat side facing the valve cone, the valve disk and valve cone in a connection region having an at least approximately continuous transition, the valve disk being provided on the fiat side facing the valve cone with a recess, the recess defining a centering or supporting seat of the valve disk and the valve cone projecting into the recess with the greater diameter end region of greater diameter, the valve cone being a separate component and fixed at the smaller diameter end region to the valve stem or to a stem connection element provided on the valve disk (see Figure 6).

4. Claims 8-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Heimann, Jr. et al (5,823,158).

Heimann, Jr. et al teach a valve stem 130; a hollow valve cone 100 connected to the valve stem 130 and having a greater diameter end region and an smaller diameter end region; and a valve disk 160 closing the valve cone and having a fiat side facing the valve cone, the valve disk and valve cone in a connection region having an at least approximately continuous transition, the valve disk being provided on the fiat side facing the valve cone with a recess, the recess defining a centering or supporting seat of the valve disk and the valve cone projecting into the recess with the greater diameter end region of greater diameter, the valve cone being a separate component and fixed at the smaller diameter end region to the valve stem or to a stem connection element provided on the valve disk (see Figures 2-6).
